

Dress up and Tango with Les Violons du Roy

Mark your calendars for Thursday, October 1, 2009, when the renowned Les Violons du Roy chamber orchestra will launch its 25th musical season with an historic, fundraising costume concert at Québec's Palais Montcalm - recognized as one of the world's finest concert halls - beginning at 8 p.m.

As the welcoming event of the 2009 North American Textile Conservation Conference (www.natcc.net), this costumed concert, the first of its kind at Palais Montcalm, will benefit the inaugural fundraising event of the Little/Ragusich Foundation for the conservation-restoration of cultural heritage.

Your $100 concert ticket includes also the admittance to the pre-concert welcome reception of the NATCC beginning at 6 p.m., and your contribution to the Little/Ragusich Foundation, administered by the Fondation communautaire du grand Québec (FCGQ), which will help promote cultural heritage by funding student bursaries and training grants, as well as supporting conservation-restoration efforts and the development of cultural products.

*What's more, Les Violons du Roy invite you to get into the spirit of the evening by dressing in cultural attire or period costume and enjoying their chosen repertoire for what is sure to be an unforgettable performance - Tango!

See the accompanying invitation for ticket information. We look forward to seeing you on October 1, 2009!
